

SENIOR PRODUCT MANAGER

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Crafting a roadmap for your area of ownership. Using data and necessary insights to rally the organization around that plan and define the strategy to deliver on the vision.
- Distilling customer, market and business insights into end-to-end scenarios .
- Translating business requirements into products and services.
- Delivering results in an environment of ambiguity.
- Demonstrating attention to detail, collaborating with the development and design teams to make sure specs are translated flawlessly into great products.
- Owning your areas by delivering features, learning from user adoption metrics and feedback, and effectively communicating broadly on both strategic and operational aspects.
- Mentoring more junior members of the team while modeling best practices.

QUALIFICATIONS

- 5+ years' experience in product management.
- Strong user focus and a deep commitment to delivering products that create user value and delightful experiences.
- Proven experience shipping complex features in consumer products or at startups.
- Strong product sense and ability to validate hypothesis through data and experimentation.
- Creative and inventive spirit, with a passion for great experiences.
- Outstanding collaboration skills and proven ability to drive results across teams.
- Bachelor's degree in Computer Science, Engineering, Mathematics or a related field. MBA preferred.